EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Discussion

- Arizona law recognizes that the board and the universities are in the best position to understand the unique safety requirements of our public university campus communities and authorizes the board to adopt rules for the maintenance of public order to govern the conduct of students, faculty, staff and all members of the public while on university or board property. A.R.S. § 13-2911.
- The board and the universities are committed to student safety and maintaining safe campuses.
- Beginning in the fall of 2013, the board launched a statewide student safety task force to examine issues related to student safety; identify best practices that promote healthy, positive behaviors; and increase coordination among the universities, student groups, law enforcement and the communities surrounding each institution. Each university established a local task force to conduct a comprehensive review of student safety issues and presented their findings at the Statewide Student Safety Task force on June 16, 2014. One of the recommendations stemming from the Statewide Student Safety Task Force meeting was the annual review of student safety policies, student code of conduct policies and disciplinary procedures and the continuation of the regular assessment of public safety needs at the three state universities. The board also recognizes the numerous on-going safety initiatives at each university, many of which are reflected in the annual campus safety reports published by each university.
- The Code of Conduct and the Student Code of Conduct (collectively “Codes of Conduct”) each include descriptions of prohibited conduct as well as definitions used in those prohibitions.
- This proposal clarifies definitions and prohibitions related to the use and possession of weapons and dangerous instruments on campus.
- The proposal also adds a definition of “Personal Safety Devices” and a requirement for universities to publish lists of permitted Personal Safety Devices. This will allow universities to quickly accommodate changes in technology without the need to amend a statute or board policy.
- The Codes of Conduct also prohibit other forms of misconduct, including endangering, threatening, or causing physical harm to any member of the university community or to oneself, or causing reasonable apprehension of such harm. The misconduct described in these provisions violates the Codes of Conduct regardless of whether the misconduct involves a weapon or dangerous instrument or permitted Personal Safety Device.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- The proposed revisions will align the language in the Code of Conduct (5-302 and 5-303) and the Student Code of Conduct (5-308) to:
 - Add the definition of “dangerous instrument” to mirror the definition in A.R.S. § 13-105: “‘Dangerous Instrument’ means anything that under the circumstances in which it is used, attempted to be used or threatened to be used is readily capable of causing death or serious physical injury.”
 - Define “Personal Safety Devices” to require each university to maintain and publish a list of permitted Personal Safety Devices to include personal alarms, chemical repellents and other devices designed to protect personal safety from physical attacks by other people. Each university must also publish the process by which an individual may seek to have a new device added to the list of permitted devices.
 - Update the prohibitions regarding the possession and use of weapons to clarify that Personal Safety Devices are excluded from the definition of Weapons.
 - Update the Codes of Conduct to prohibit the carrying of torches and other devices with open flames on university property or at university activities.
- At its February 2018 board meeting, the board approved policy changes for immediate implementation to clarify that personal safety devices such as certain chemical repellants and alarms are permitted on campus.
 - The additional revisions proposed in this policy will allow each university to work with its chief of police to maintain and publish a list of additional personal safety devices that will be permitted on campus.
 - Each university will also be required to publish the process for an individual to seek to have a new device added to the list.
 - This will allow the universities to move quickly to respond to advances in devices designed for personal protection, without the need to seek board policy revisions for each new item.
- The board office will seek board approval at a future date to consolidate the definitions for the Codes of Conduct in a single policy.
- The request is for the policy to go into effect immediately. The board asks that the universities work cooperatively to develop and publish their initial lists of permitted personal safety devices prior to the beginning of the Fall 2018 semester, and to share those lists with the board.

Requested Action

As permitted by ABOR Policy 1-202 J, the board office asks the board to review the proposed revisions to ABOR policies 5-302, 5-303 and 5-308 set forth above on first reading and approve the proposed revisions for immediate implementation for 90 days, pending approval for continued implementation at the June, 2018 meeting.

A. Jurisdiction and Authority

1. Under Arizona law, the Arizona Board of Regents is responsible for the control and supervision of the state universities and their properties and activities. The Board is authorized to enact ordinances for the governance of the universities and the maintenance of public order upon all property under its jurisdiction. The Board has promulgated this Student Code of Conduct in order to meet its responsibilities under Arizona law. Enforcement of this Student Code of Conduct is subject to applicable law, including constitutional protections for speech, association and the press.
2. The Presidents are authorized to enforce the Student Code of Conduct.
3. Actions under the Student Code of Conduct are administrative and not criminal in nature. Therefore, a student can be found responsible under the Student Code of Conduct even if the underlying conduct would not also constitute a criminal offense, and even if a prosecutor has determined not to prosecute as a criminal matter or the student has been found not guilty in a criminal proceeding.
4. For purposes of interpreting words and phrases not otherwise defined in the Student Code of Conduct, every day and common usages and understanding shall apply, and external sources may be consulted for guidance.

Sanctions may be imposed for acts of misconduct that occur on university property or at any university-sponsored activity. As further prescribed in these rules, off-campus conduct may also be subject to discipline. With respect to student organizations, and their members, university jurisdiction extends to premises used or controlled by the organizations on or off campus.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

B. Philosophy

1. The aim of education is the intellectual, personal, social, and ethical development of the individual. The educational process is ideally conducted in an environment that encourages reasoned discourse, intellectual honesty, openness to constructive change, and respect for the rights of all individuals. Self-discipline and a respect for the rights of others in the university community are necessary for the fulfillment of such goals. The Student Code of Conduct is designed to promote this environment at each of the state universities.
2. The Student Code of Conduct sets forth the standards of conduct expected of students who choose to join the university community.
3. Students who violate these standards will be subject to disciplinary sanctions in order to promote their own personal development, to protect the university community, and to maintain order and stability on campus.

C. Scope

1. The adoption of the Student Code of Conduct does not prohibit any university or the Board from adopting or maintaining additional rules to govern the conduct of students. Allegations of misconduct brought under the Student Code of Conduct may be combined with allegations arising under other university or Board rules.
2. Each university may adopt policies and procedures for reviewing allegations of academic dishonesty.
3. The Student Code of Conduct applies to individual students and to student organizations.
4. Students and student organizations are also subject to the following rules:

Student organizations, as well as their members and other students, may also be held collectively and/or individually responsible for violations including but not limited to misconduct that occurs: (a) on university property; (b) on premises used or controlled by the organization; (c) at university-sponsored activities; or (d) in violation of university hazing policies.
- 3. The officers or leaders of a student organization may be held collectively and/or individually responsible when such violations are committed by persons associated with the organization who have received consent or encouragement from the organization's officers or leaders or if those officers or leaders knew or should have known that such violations were being or would be committed.
- 4. The officers or leaders of a student organization may be directed to take action designed to prevent or end such violations by the organization or by any persons associated with the organization.
